The book has made its appearance in this vicinity. It is about 500 pages which is said to be translated from Egyptian Hieroglyphics on metal plates by one Smith, who was enabled to read the characters by instructions from angels. In the neighboring township of Kirtland, we understand that 20 or 30 have been immersed into the new order of things. The name of the person here, who pretends to have a divine mission and to have conversed with Angels, is Cowdray. He is bound for the regions beyond the Mississippi where he contemplates founding a "City of Refuge" for his followers.

Four men are traveling westward, who say they are commanded by their Heavenly Father, to go and collect the scattered tribes of Israel, which they say a new Gospel informs them are the different tribes of Indians. This new Gospel they say was found in Ontario Co., N.Y. and was discovered by an Angel of light appearing in a dream to a man named Smith. He was directed to go to a certain place and dug up a box containing plates of gold on which the gospel was engraved in characters unknown. The said, Smith, though he is so illiterate he cannot write, was by divine inspiration, enabled to give the true interpretation.

One of the four going westward, is Parly P. Pratt, who has been a resident of Russia, Lorain Co., Ohio for 3 or 4 yrs. past. He was authorized by the sect call Rigdonites last Aug. to preach in this vicinity.

From the Palmyra (N.Y.) Reflector – printed about 2 miles from Smith's Bible Quarry.

It is well known that Jo Smith never pretended to have any communion with angels until after a long period after the pretended finding of his book. Walters, a vagabond fortune-teller who then resided in the town of Sodus, first suggested to Smith the idea of finding a book. He would pretend to read Cicero's orations in Latin, uttering at the same time an unintelligible jargon, which he would afterwards pretend to interpret and explain, as a record of the former inhabitants of America and give an account of the numerous situations where they had deposited their treasure.

The true story of Thomas Higgins, who lived in Vandalia, Illinois. He is a native of Kentucky and is one of the best examples extant of the genuine backwoodsman. During the last war, at the age of 19, he enlisted in the Rangers, a Corp of mounted men raised expressly for the protection of the western frontiers. On Aug. 30, 1814, he was one of a party of 12 men under the command of Lieut. Journey who were posted at Hill's station about 8 miles south of Greenville (Illinois). They had ridden out after seeing Indian sign on the morning of Aug. 31, and were ambushed by Indians, to the number of 70 or 80. Four of the Ranger party were killed, among them Lieut. Journey. The rest fled, except for Higgins. Under cover of the smoke hanging in the air from the guns, Higgins fired at some Indians who had not seen him, as he turned to mount his horse and leave, someone called to him and it was one of the Rangers, named Burgess. His leg was smashed to pieces. As he approached his horse to put the wounded man on, the horse took off in fright. He told Burgess to crawl to the high grass and he would stay between him and the Indians and keep them off. He distracted three Indians from his friend and ended up being shot four times and stabbed with spears. He fought them until help arrived from the Ranger station. (Describes his fight and rescue.)

It is estimated that more than a million bushels of human bones were imported last year from the continent of Europe into the port of Hull. The neighborhood of Leipsic, Austerlitz, Waterloo, and of all the places where during the late bloody war, the principal battles were fought have been swept alike of the bones of the hero and of the horse which he rode. From Hull the bones are forwarded to the Yorkshire bone grinders who have steam engines and machines to do this. The ground bones are sent chiefly to Doncaster, one of the largest agricultural markets in the country and sold to the farmers to manure their lands. It is a singular fact that Great Britain having sent out multitudes of soldiers to fight its battles upon the continent of Europe, should then import their bones as an article of commerce to fatten their soil.

from the New York Record

In the appendix to Mr. Campbell’s “Annals of Tryon County” we find the following document, Extract of a letter from Captain Courish of the New England Militia, dated March 7, 1782.

The Militia took possession of eight packages from the Seneca Indians in one of their expeditions. A letter accompanied the packages that were sent by them as a present to Col. Hinman, Gov. of Canada in order to be forwarded by him to England.

In the letter each package is numbered and explained. No. 1 contained 43 scalps of soldiers and 52 scalps of farmers killed. Each scalp is stretched on a hoop, four inches in diameter, and the inside skin painted a color to depict if they were killed in day or night and with bullet, ax, or knife.

No. 2 contained the scalps of 98 farmers

No. 3 contained the scalps of 97 farmers

No. 4 contained the scalps of 102 farmers; 18 were marked with a little yellow flame to denote their being of prisoners burnt alive, after being scalped and their nails pulled out by the root

No. 5 contained 88 scalps of women, hair long and braided in the Indian fashion to show they were mothers

No. 6 contained 193 boy’s scalps of various ages

No. 7 contained 211 girls’ scalps, big and little

No. 8 contained a mixture of all varieties and a box of birch bark with 29 little infants’ scalps

The Chiefs asked the father to send these presents across the sea to the Great King so that he can see their faithfulness in destroying their enemies.

They expect the Great King to give them another country as the enemies grow great in number and have driven them out of their country for taking part in your quarrel.

We know you will send us powder and guns and knives and hatchets; but we also want shirts and blankets. Letter was written by James Crauford for the Indian chiefs.

p. 1 col. 1 Mormonism

The first of a series of letters written by Ezra Booth. He was a celebrated preacher of the Methodist Society and was one of those who embraced Smith's religion soon after its introduction here. He was strong in the faith and made a tour to the western line of Missouri at the command of the prophet to see the "promised land," and site of the New Jerusalem.

Written from Nelson, Portage Co., Sept. 12th to Ira Eddy. Extract of some of the letter:

Ezra Booth talks about the imbecility of human nature and especially his own weakness. It has unfolded in its proper character, a delusion to which I had fallen a victim and taught me the humiliating truth.

second letter written to Rev. Ira Eddy
from Ezra Booth

Partial extract: As the Mormonite church depends principally upon commandments, and as most of them are concealed from the world, it will be necessary to make some statement respecting them.

These commandments come for Smith at such times and on such occasions as he feels disposed to speak, and Rigdon or Cowdery to write them. For instance, Smith gets a commandment that he shall be "head of the church" or that he "shall rule the Conference" or that the church shall build him an elegant house and give him 1,000 dollars. In addition to the Book for Mormon and the Commandments, there are Revelations which are not written. Their Revelations are said to be an addition to the Bible. Joseph Smith Jr., Sidney Rigdon, Oliver Cowdery and Martin Harris may be considered as the principals in this work.

p. 1 col. 6 Mormonism, No. 3

third letter written to Rev. Ira Eddy
from Ezra Booth

Partial extract:

Mormonism in part has changed its character from that under which it first made its appearance on the Western Reserve. Smith is the only one at present to my knowledge, who pretends to hold converse with the inhabitants of the celestial world. It seems from his statements he can have access to them when and where he pleases. You probably read the testimony of three witnesses who testify that an angel appeared to them and presented them the golden plates. When in Missouri, I had an opportunity to examine a commandment given to these witnesses, previous to their seeing the plates. They were informed that they should see and hear those things by faith, and then they should testify to the world as though they had seen and heard, as I see a man, and hear his voice; but after all, it amounts simply to this; that by faith or imagination, they saw the plates and the angel.

Nov. 8, 1831

p. 3 col. 2 Mormonism, No. 4

written by Ezra Bates to Rev. Ira Eddy

Partial extract: From the time Mormonism first appeared until the grand tour to Missouri, and expectations universally pervaded the Church, that the time was not far distant when the deaf, the dumb, the maimed, the blind, &c., would be become subjects of the miraculous power of God, so that every defect in their systems would be entirely removed.

This expectation originated from and was grounded in a variety of premises included in a number of commandments, or verbal revelations from Smith. When the 4th of June was appointed for the sessions of the conference, many believed that the time had come when the great and mighty work of miracles was to commence at the conference. Smith tried to bring a dead body to life, to make a man walk, &c. to no success. The gloom of disappointed expectations overspread the faces of many. A crowd had gathered and Rigdon sent everyone home. He was directed to do this by the Spirit, but it was probably fear of the crowd.

For more than 20 yrs., his spelling was almost universally used in our common school, leaving in the shade every attempt to supplant it (such as Walker's System and the improvement on it by Cobb with a spelling book).

Mormonism, Letter No. 5

By Ezra Booth to Rev. Ira Eddy

After the failed attempts at healing at the conference, the tour to Missouri revived the sinking expectations and gave new energy to faith and hope. The men going to Missouri were sent on foot two by two and were to preach on the way. (Ezra Booth was one of them.) We expected to assemble together at a conference according to commandment and the Lord would signally display his power, for the confirmation of our faith, but we commenced our journey home before most of the Elders arrived. We expected to find a large Church which Smith said was revealed to him in a vision. This large Church was found to consist of four females. No miracles could be wrought.

He turned back and never had the courage to visit the residence of the Indians again.

p. 1 col. 4 Sugar Refining

In the Sugar Refinery of Mr. Edward Bemont, of Charleston, S. C., the process hitherto, was slow, unwholesome and disgusting, is now cleanly and agreeable. The use of blood, from which was obtained formerly the necessary animal carbon, which the coalescing matter of the syrup was precipitated is now dispensed with altogether and Ivory Black substituted which does not subject the health of the workmen to the deleterious effect of the former offensive material—and removes the unpleasant association for those who consume the article. The introduction of steam in boiling down the syrup is considered a wonderful improvement.

A document of Mormonism which was published in the Ohio Star and is attested to by Deacon Simond Ryder, as being furnished to him while he was an Elder under the Mormon dispensation.

Extract: It is what Rigdon calls his commission. It is a commandment to Joseph and Sidney, Dec. 7, 1830, from Jesus Christ telling Sidney he has prepared him for great work. He is to not only to baptize by water but is give the Holy Ghost by laying on of hands. To those who should ask in Christs name, in faith, shall cast out devils and heal the sick, cause the blind to receive sight, the deaf to hear, the dumb to speak and the lame to walk.

To make millstones in France, a mass of stone is cut into a cylinder several feet high and the question then arises how to subdivide this into horizontal pieces so as to make mill stones.

Mar. 13, 1832

For this purpose, horizontal indentations or grooves are chiseled out around the cylinder at distances for the thickness which is intended to be given to the mill stones. Into these, wedges of wood are driven and then wetted, then exposed to the night dew. In the morning the different pieces are found separated from each other by the expansion of the wood due to the absorption of moisture.

p. 4 col. 1 An Ordinance Regulating the Town of Painesville

Be it ordained and established by the Town Council of the Town of Painesville:

1. Town council members will be elected in May and the term will be for one year.
2. The Treasurer will have charge of all monies paid into the treasury of the town and keep a book with the names of persons from whom received or to whom paid.
3. The duty of the Marshall, who may call to his aid one or both of the street supervisors, to maintain and enforce the by-laws, to suppress riots and disturbances, to abate and remove nuisances, collect all taxes that may be levied and all fines and penalties that may be imposed and to pay the same to the treasury.
4. Street Commissioners shall remove or cause to be removed all obstructions on the sidewalks, roads, streets, lanes, alley and common of the town, will superintend the construction of sidewalks, the erection of shade trees, and the erection of the front fences of the lots in the town, and have the power to enter any lot with a view to the removal of any nuisance that shall render the air, noxious offensive and unwholesome and may request the owner to remove such nuisance or be fined..
5. The street supervisors shall aid the marshal and street commissioners in impounding any swine found running at large and notify the owner within 12 hours of the impounding.

6. The owner of any swine who run at large will pay a fine of 12 and a half cents. If no one claims the impounded swine, they will be sold.

7. If the owner of the impounded swine is notified and does not pay the fine, the swine will be sold.

8. A person, who obstructs a sidewalk, and does not remove the obstruction within six hours after notice will be fined from $1 to $5.

9. A tax is hereby levied on the aggregate amount of taxable property within the town of one eighth of one per centum.

10. Any person playing ball, beat, knock, or drive any ball or hoop, or raise or fly any kite, or shall throw or fire any cracker of fire ball, or pay any other game in the public street in the town to the annoyance and disturbance of the citizens or travelers, or the peace and quiet of the town, shall pay a sum of $1 to $5. The Marshal is to arrest anyone violating this ordinance.

11. In the absence of the Mayor, the Recorder has the authority to call a meeting of the town council.

12. Owners of dogs that run at large in town shall pay a fine of $1 to $5. Moreover, it shall be lawful for any person in the town to kill and destroy any dog found running at large, and it is the special duty of the Marshal, the street commissioner and the street supervisors to destroy and kill any dog running at large. The Mayor or Recorder are also authorized to cause any dog to be killed if represented to be dangerous to the community.

13. Each officer of the town before entering upon the duty of his office will take an oath. The town marshal and the treasurer shall each give a bond of $200. Lemuel G. Storrs, Mayor; Addison Hills, Recorder from the Rock spring (Illinois) Pioneer

Several days since several Mormonite preachers passed through this and adjoining county. Their preaching did not make much of an impression, but on one family. A Mr. McMahan, a pious and respectable man and a Methodist local preacher was so bewildered with their new bible and their power to work miracles, that he was baptized into the Mormon faith. He was commissioned to preach and work miracles. After one or two ineffectual attempts with his neighbors, he became entirely deranged and his wife soon joined him. Under the notion they were fighting evil spirits they attacked their house and their furniture tearing the weather boarding off the house and breaking the windows. The next project, was to "sacrifice" one of the children, but one of the neighbors interfered, who confined Mr. McMahan in irons until he became more peaceable.

On the 16th ult., a treaty was signed with the Winnebago Indians by which they cede to the United States all the lands south and east of the Wisconsin and the Fox river of Green Bay, amounting to nearly 5,000,000 acres for which they are to receive an annuity of $10,000 for 27 yrs. A school will be established for them and they will be provided with agricultural implements. They are granted a tract of country called the "Neutral Ground," extending 40 miles along the west bank of the Mississippi and running back 76 miles. They are to give up 9 of their warriors who stand charged with murdering unoffending white citizens. A treaty was also concluded with the Sac and Fox Indians, who also ceded land. They will receive an annuity for $20,000 for 30 yrs. and a blacksmith shop will be maintained among them. Black Hawk and other Chiefs are to be detained as hostages for the good conduct of their followers.

p. 2 col. 1 The Indians

Letter written from the Madan village, Upper Missouri, Aug. 5, 1832 by George Catlin

He visited among the Mandan Indians and described their huts as being round, 50-60' in diameter and made of poles covered with thick mats of branches and earth. There may be 15 or 20 people living in each hut and there are 50 to 60 huts. Each bed is raised off the floor made of poles covered with Buffalo skin and hides and the sides and front of the bed enclosed but for an opening to crawl in and out. He describes their customs. The Mandans told him they were the first people created on the earth. They call themselves "people of the pheasants." The tribe numbers between 1600 and 1800 souls. They look like other Indians except for their hair that

from Sillimans Scientific Journal regarding an experiment on a large rattlesnake in the northern part of the state of Ohio where rattlesnakes are said to be very large and numerous. The experiment was made about 30 yrs. ago by Judge Woodruff in order to test the accuracy of the prevailing notion among the people that the leaves of the White Ash were highly offensive to the rattlesnake and this horrid reptile was never found on the land where the White Ash grows. It is the uniform practice among the hunters who travel the forest in the summer to stuff their boots and shoes and pockets with the white ash leaves for the purpose of securing themselves against the bite of the rattlesnake. It is said that no person was ever bitten who resorted to this precaution. The account given by Judge Woodruff tells of him hunting with a small party who went to the Mahoning River to hunt deer. The party positioned themselves upon an elevated spot 15 or 20 yards from the river. From here, they saw a large rattlesnake, that crawled out from the rocks beneath the men, made its way towards the river. The men decided to try the effect of the ash leaves. A search turned up a small white ash sapling and another sapling of sugar maple was cut. The Judge came up from the rear to the snake and when the snake got coiled and ready to fight, the Judge place the leaves upon the snake. The snake uncoiled and rolled over on his back and appeared to be in great agony. The white ash was taken away and the sugar maple stick was used next, which the snake attacked. Then the Judge presented the white ash sapling again and the snake again writhed his body in the same manner as the first time.

p. 3 col. 1 Mormon Colony

We learn from the Mormon colony in Missouri that a great riot took place there about the 20th ult. We understand that O. Cowdery, of the principal men among the pilgrims, has arrived at the headquarters with the tidings that 400 – 500 of the inhabitants of that region, including most of the military and civil authorities assembled at mid-day in an uproarious manner, made an attack upon a building containing the printing establishment and the family of the editor and razed it to the ground. They then took six of the head men, bishop and elders to whom they applied tar and kept them two or three days, threatening their lives if they did not depart the place. They reached a treaty where the Mormons agreed to leave as soon as they conveniently could and the local people to pay damages.

p. 2 col. 5 Mormonites in Missouri

From the Missouri Republican, St. Louis, Aug. 9th Very extraordinary proceedings have taken place in Jackson Co., this state, against the sect of fanatics called Mormons. Banished as they are now from that frontier, it may well be asked to what place they now remove.

A meeting of the citizens of Jackson Co. was held in Independence on July 20th. Their object was to take measures to rid themselves of the Mormonites. Co. Richard Simpson was called to the Chair and Jones H. Flournoy and Samuel D. Lucas appointed Secretaries. A committee was then appointed to report and address the public in relation to the object of the meeting.

They represent that the Mormons number 1,200 souls in that county. The citizens are daily told they are to be cut off and their lands appropriated to the Mormons for inheritances; but they are not fully agreed on how this is to be accomplished, whether by the destroying angel, the judgement of God, or the arm of power. The committee express their fears that should this population continue to increase, they will soon have all the offices of the county in their hands and that the lives and property of other citizens would be insecure.

They declared:

1. No Mormon shall in the future move and settle in this county.
2. Those now here need to give a definite pledge of their intention to move out of the county and they will remain unmolested.
3. That the editor of the Star be required to close his office and discontinue printing in this county.
4. The Mormon leaders here are required to use their influence to prevent any further emigration of their brethren to this county.
5. Those who fail to comply with those requisitions be referred to those of their brethren who have the gifts of divination and of unknown tongues to inform them of the lot that awaits them.

Committee to talk with the Mormon elders;

After talking with Mr. W. W. Phelps, editor of the Star, Edward Partridge, bishop of the sect, and Mr. Gilbert the keeper of the Lord's store house and others, that they decline giving any direct answer and wished an unreasonable amount for consultation here and with their brethren in Ohio.

It was decided that the Star office should be razed to the ground with no blood spilled or blows inflicted.

Another meeting was held on July 23rd with even more citizens. The Mormon leaders were approached again and an agreement was drawn up that by Jan. 1, 1834, the Mormons will move with their families out of the county. The Star will no longer be published.

Remarkable Phenomenon

From the W. R. chronicle

I was called from my bed at 5 o'clock this morning and told "It's raining fire. Looking out the window, I saw the whole firmament constantly and splendidly illuminated by a succession of falling meteors, or luminous bodies. They resembled somewhat the rockets discharge in fireworks displays or the shooting stars that are often seen darting through the air in the evening. At times they fell in showers and were much thicker in some directions than in others. Their direction was from the southeast to the northwest. The whole time they were evident was about three hours. Soon after I awakened, my attention was attracted to a luminous spot in the northeast which continued visible for about 15 – 20 mins. and gradually disappeared. I am credibly informed that at 4 o'clock it was very brilliant in the form of an italic letter S. and appeared to be 15 or 20 feet long.

p. 3 col. 1 More Trouble in the Mormon Camp

There has been another fracas in Missouri between the Mormon fanatics and the citizens in which firearms were resorted to. Twenty of the later and two of the former were killed. The Prophet had sent orders to the brethren "to stand by their arms" instead of leaving the place as they had agreed. They erected a barricade and supplied themselves with arms. The citizens commenced the attack.

p. 3 col. 4 Abolition Meeting

At a meeting held in the courthouse in Chardon on the 25th inst. D. D. Aiken was chosen Chairman and S. N. Hoyt, Secretary. Alfred Phelps, Wm. L. Perkins and Joseph Perham were appointed a committee to draft and report resolutions.

They resolved that:

Any measures for the abolition of slavery calculated to be salutary and effective, should emanate from the slave holding states or at least have their concurrence and the formation of Anti-Slavery Societies among us at this time is inexpedient, dangerous and pernicious as tending to produce discord and a dissolution of the union.

The citizens of Painesville are requested to meet with the Painesville Education Society at the brick school house next Monday, at early candle light, to consult upon measures for the establishment of a permanent school. S. Rosa, President.

P 1 col. 5 Painful Intelligence

The Mormons and the Anti-Mormons
St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 15th

Houses and property were destroyed and the Elders of the Church severely whipped by the mob, under cover of night. As yet, our intelligence is not very accurate, or full, in regard to the measures taken by the officers of the county to suppress this rebellion as it may properly be called. There may be many worthless and intolerable members of the obnoxious sect; but the laws are equal to the punishment of all whose who are guilty of violating them. The Mormons are as much protected in their religion, their property, and persons, as any other denomination or class of men.

p. 3 col. 2 Many reports have been in circulation within a few days past respecting the Mormon troubles in Missouri. Reports that all the male members of the sect had been murdered seem to have been put in circulation by the Mormons themselves and through the same channel we learn that there were but two or three lives lost on either side. Tranquility has been restored by the Mormons moving across the river into another county in order to await the due enforcement of the laws.

Dec. 27, 1833 Friday image 553

p. 2 col. 6 War against the Mormonites

We are glad to learn from the following received by last evening's mails, that the affrays between the Mormonites and other inhabitants of the western part of Missouri have not been as sanguinary as at first represented and are supposedly to be now at an end. Nat. Intell.

All our accounts concur in one thing that the original statement as to the number killed was much exaggerated. The most authentic count puts the number at six—two of the citizens and four of the Mormonites, and a good many wounded.

p. 1 col. 1 A Scrap of Mormonism

It will be recollected that an affray recently took place between the Mormon sect and a large body of the people of Jackson Co., Missouri, and that peace was only restored by the removal of the former across the river into another county by the advice of the Lt. Governor of that state, until the difficulties could undergo a judicial investigation.

Soon after, the Mormon Prophet printed and circulated a document among the deluded followers of the imposter Smith. Extract from the document:

I, the Lord, have suffered the afflictions to come upon the brethren who have been afflicted owing to their transgressions. Yet, I will own them, and they shall be mine in that day when I shall make up my jewels.

Observe the commandments which I have given concerning these things, to purchase all the lands by money, which can be purchased for money in the region about the land which I have appointed to be the land of Zion; all the land which can be purchased in Jackson County and the counties round about and leave the residue in mine hand.

p. 3 col. 1 Narrow Escape

Last Wednesday, the son of Mr. Thos. Richmond, fell into an air hole while skating upon the river and immediately disappeared. Mr. J. W. Oakley, who happened to witness the exit of the lad, caught an axe and ran to the spot and at some distance below made a new hole in the ice through which he caught and drew out the boy who was slowly floating down with the current.

p. 2 col. 2 Remarkable Longevity

Mrs. Betsey Trantham died in Maury Co., Tennessee, on Jan 10, 1832, at the advanced age of 154 yrs. She was born in Germany and emigrated to this country at the time of the first settlement made in North Carolina, in the year 1710. It is a matter of history, that the proprietors of Carolina induced a number of Palatines from Germany to emigrate to their lands in that colony. Ships were prepared to convey the emigrants, and when they arrived, Gov. Synte, was directed to give each 100 acres of land. Among those who emigrated at that time was Mrs. Trantham. At the age of 65, she bore her only child, who is now living.

p. 3 col. 4 Life of Lafayette

He was born Gilbert Motier Lafayette at Chavange, near Bryoude, in Auvergen, Sept. 6, 1757. At the age of 17 married the granddaughter of the Duke of Noailles. He came to American in 1777 and arrived at Charleston, South Carolina, at the age of 19 yrs. He was immediately offered a command in the continental army but declined, and raised and equipped a body of men at his own expense entering the service as a volunteer. He lived in the family of the commander-in-chief. He was appointed Major General in July and in Sept. was wounded at Brandywine. In Jan., 1779, he returned to France. Upon his return to America, he received command of 2,000 men which he clothed and equipped in part at his own expense. His forces marched to Virginia in Dec., 1780.

p. 3 col. 1 The Mormon War

The Mormons in Missouri expect a reinforcement from the state of Ohio and are informed that small parties arrive almost every day. As soon as they all arrive, they intend to call upon the Governor to reinstate them on their lands in Jackson, and if molested are determined to defend themselves, sword in hand. We are advised they will be able to muster 700 strong.

The people of Jackson are also making preparations and at a meeting elected Samuel C. Owens, their commander-in-chief. They have received a letter from the Governor asking them to affect a compromise, if possible, by purchasing the lands from the Mormons and paying them for the injuries they have sustained. Persons were appointed to meet with the Mormons in this place next Monday for this purpose. In the committee are:

Stayton Sr., Thomas
Erwin, Samuel
Noland, Smallwood V.
Nolands, Smallwood
Reuby, Henry
Owens, Samuel C.
Rickman, Robert
Campbell, James Fristoe, Richard

from the Missouri Enquirer (printed at Liberty) on June 18th

Committees of citizens from Jackson Co. and the Mormons met and did not reach a compromise on their difficulties. The citizens offered to buy all the lands and improvements of the Mormons at a valuation set by disinterested arbitrators, and to add 100 per cent to it, to be paid within 39 days. The Mormons were not authorized to assent and it is not probable that it will be assented to.

It is said that if a compromise could not be reached the Governor would reinstate the real owners of the lands upon them and have Joe Smith's army return to Ohio.

p. 1 col. 1 Sketch of American Women
by Samuel L. Knapp

Hannah Duston should be ranked among the heroines of antiquity. She was the wife of Thomas Duston, of Haverhill, in Massachusetts, born in the year 1659, and married in 1677. She had altogether 13 children. When they attacked Haverhill on March 15th, 1697, she was confined to her bed with an infant only a week old. Her husband catching the alarm, fled from the field to the house and consulted his wife on the course he should pursue. She calmly told him to leave her and the infant to their fate and to make his escape, if possible, with her other children. He got seven children on a path through the woods to the garrison. Mrs. Duston, the baby, and Mary Neif, her nurse, were taken prisoner. The Indians found the infant troublesome and killed it. After this outrage, Mrs. Duston wept no more and planned revenge. Eventually, while camping about 75 miles from where they started, she took a hatchet and snuck out of the wigwam and killed 10 Indians, each with a single blow of the hatchet, one at a time. In order for people to believe her, she took their scalps. She put the nurse and an English boy, who was another captive, in a canoe and made it home.

by an Edinburgh Physician

A very common practice in eating cherries is to swallow the stones, with the vague notice that these produce digestions. This can be fatal and cause obstruction in the intestines. The husks of gooseberries are often swallowed with the idea they prevent any bad effects from the fruit. On the contrary, they are the most indigestible substance that can be swallowed. Many people eat only one dish at dinner thinking that if they mix foods, such as fish, fowl, beef, or vegetables prevents easy digestion. This is absurd

p. 3 col. 1 Boundary Difficulties

Mr. Seeley, one of the Commissioners, arrived here on Monday with the particulars of the recent attempt of the Michigan authorizes to seize the officers employed in re-marking the boundary line between this state and Michigan. On the 25th ult., the Commissioners had camped about 40 miles from the line from the northwest corner of the state. A Michigan Sheriff with 80 men armed with U.S. muskets came upon them and commanded them to surrender. The company was unarmed and could make no resistance, and attempted to retreat when the Michigan troops fired upon them and slightly wounded one man. Nine of the Commissioner's company were taken prisoners by the Michigan posse:

Hawkins, Col.	of Morgan
Scott, Col.	of Sandusky
Gould, Col.	of Sandusky
Rice, Maj.	of Sandusky
Biggerstaff, Capt.	of Sandusky
Eldridge, Esq.	of Sandusky
Fletcher, Mr.	of Columbus
Hale, Mr.	of Columbus
Ricketts, Mr.	of Columbus

The other Commissioners had retired unobserved in the forest and remained there until their friends brought them their horses, when they escaped and returned to Perrysburgh where they received permission to postpone their duties until sufficient force should be organized to protect them. The Governor is asking the Legislature to convene immediately to decide on a course of action.

p. 1 col. 7 Drying Unripe Corn

Several methods of drying unripe corn for winter use are recommended. The worst is to boil the corn and then cut it from the cob. A far better plan is that adopted by the Indians of Lake Michigan who roast corn in a sand bath heated by a fire which they make on a bed of soft sand, into which the ears are plunged. After being roasted in this way, it is removed from the cob and kept in sacks for winter use. A still better way is to roast the corn in an oven as much as you would do for immediate use. Corn dried this way may be kept for years. When boiled for at least 12 hours, it is as tender and soft as green corn.

from the Toledo Gazette of the 10th inst

The military of Michigan led on by Gen. Brown and commander-in-chief Mason poured into Toledo declaring their intention to prevent the sitting of the Court and to arrest the Judges and Jurors. They were permitted to take possession of the town but the citizens would not tell where the Court was being held. The invaders destroyed gardens and orchards, butchered two fine horses belonging to Messrs. Card and Briggs, and a few other petty depredations. After a siege of four days, they left and returned to their homes.

At an unusually numerous and highly respectable meeting of the citizens of Willoughby, Cuyahoga Co., Ohio, on Sat. evening Dec. 25th, for the purpose of taking into consideration the propriety of permitting certain abolition lectures by a Mr. Alvord, in that place, it was resolved with feelings of indignation, mingled with regret, the arrival in this place of a disseminator of doctrines, alike injurious to the interests of the black population and the subversive harmony of the union. Resolved that Mr. Alvord be requested to withdraw his presence from the room immediately and from our village as soon as possible. Between three and four hundred persons were present at the meeting and the greatest order and unanimity of sentiment prevailed.

p. 3 col. 1 Rail-Road Celebration

The passage of the Act incorporating the Wellsville and Fairport Railroad Co. was celebrated in Painesville on the 29th ult. with unusual splendor. At Fairport a national salute was fired. A car on runners drawn by 4 beautiful bay horses, leader plumed headed the procession. A long pendant floated on the wind "Wellsville and Fairport Rail-Road" and on another standard "Star-spangled Banner." There was a long procession of happy citizens in sleighs. The parade moved from Cables' Hotel along Water Street to Third Street and to High Street and towards Painesville accompanied by music on the Kent Bugle and Trumpet. At Painesville, it passed through State, Washington, Liberty, and Main Streets till it stopped at the hotel of Mr. Card. A half past six a light gleamed from every glass and the whole village became

p. 2 col. 2 Western Indians

From the West there is intelligence of hostilities between the aboriginals of the prairies and the traders and emigrant Indians.

From a letter "Near Fort Gibson, A. T. March 14, 1836"

Gen. Arbuckle received by Express that the Comanches and Pawnees had murdered all the traders at Coffee's Trading House on Red River, in Pawnee country. One man only escaped; he arrived here and described the massacre as dreadful; 50 or 60 Americans and some Creeks and Osages were butchered. There is no doubt that the United States will resent these murders and we will march from here as soon as the grass will admit of our horses living on it. Chili McIntosh, the Creek warrior, swears vengeance against the Pawnees and Comanches and he will no doubt add six or seven hundred warriors to our command.

Michigan Indian Lands

p. 2 col. 3 It is stated in a letter from Washington written by Mr. Schoolcraft and published in a Detroit paper that the negotiations between the government and the Ottawa and Chippewa Indians were closed on the 28th ult. and a treaty signed by the chiefs of the two tribes by which the U. S. are put in possession of 17,000,000 acres of land 10,000,000 south of the straits of Micilimacinac and 7,000,000 north of them. The Ottawa still retain about 640,000 acres. The Indians are to receive a million and a half dollars besides other provisions benefitting their condition. Black Rock Advocate

Fight with the Creeks

An engagement took place near Roanoke between 93 men under Capt. Calhoun and 250 – 300 Indians. Five of the whites were killed and fifteen wounded. The Indians, most of them escaped to Florida. A large force under Gen. Sandford immediately started in pursuit.

Aug. 26, 1836

On the 25th, 18 miles below Lumpkins, Capt. Jerigan with his command, engaged a body of Indians killing some 25 or 30 with a loss of 3 men killed and 7 wounded. Later they pursued the Indians into the swamps. Upon the Indians giving ground, 40 of their number had fallen and about as many more taken prisoner. The Indians at last account were in the swamp. Capt. Jerigan's loss is stated to be 5 or 6 killed and 11 wounded. "Thus, it will be seen that the war has again broken out, at the very moment when the assurance of men in high authority have induced the country to believe that all was as calm as sunshine."

During the past two days, bills from the society of Mormons have been showered upon us. As far as we can learn, there is no property bound for their redemption, no coin on hand to redeem them with, and no responsible individuals whose honor or whose honesty is pledged for their payment. They seem to rest upon a spiritual basis. They look like bank bills and the unsuspecting in a hurry of business would take them as ordinary bank bills. In very fine letters before bank is "anti" and after is "ing" so that the whole reads "antibanking."

p. 2 col. 5 The Remarkable Phenomenon

It was seen in the heavens on the evening of the 25th ult. and seems to have been visible in all parts of the Union. The first appearance was in the southeastern part of the horizon and resembled the light which generally precedes the moon's rising. In a few minutes it assumed a reddish hue and shot forth in streaks of variegated colors from the south east to the north west. These streaks at times had stirpes of clear white, rapidly changing their position. Occasionally a red cloud would instantly gather overhead and in a few moments disappear. Though the moon did not rise till about 9 p.m., it was so bright to almost enable a person to see a pin on the ground. Towards the close of this strange appearance, the air became extremely afflictive to the lungs, producing a hoarseness by its inhalation together with a chilliness of the whole system.

A new post office has been established at Richmond near the mouth of the Grand River— Edward G. Dye, Postmaster.

The Northfield Murder

Lucinda Crominger though wounded is still alive. Her statement is that about midnight on the night of the murder she was awakened by some person coming into the room where she and her mother slept. She was struck on the head which knocked her down on the pillow, senseless. When she became sensible again, she saw her mother on the floor and a man hitting her with a hatchet. When the girl saw him strike her mother the last time (the mother died), she screamed and he fled. She identified the man as Samuel McKisson, the father of Robert McKisson, her mother's husband. The Coroner's Jury found the blows were inflicted with an axe by Samuel McKisson and David McKisson. Samuel McKisson was addicted to drink and the only cause for committing this act was that his son and his wife would not support him in his course of drunkenness, which he attributed to Mrs. McKisson. David McKisson had been heard to repeatedly threaten her life and was seen in that vicinity that evening. The old man is now in jail.

p. 2 col. 2 Mysterious

A horse was found under very suspicious circumstances. It was found on the farm of Judge Stone in Newbury township, Geauga Co., Ohio, on Dec. 21st. He was a bay horse with a black mane and tail, white snip on the left side of the nose. He was tied to a sapling and stabbed in the jugular vein. A saddle and bridle with blinders were found a few rods from the horse and it had the appearance of being dead 2 or 3 weeks. Any information, respecting the appearance of this horse and the circumstances, can be addressed by letter to Drs. Bell or Reynolds, or to Judge Stone.

p. 3 col. 4 Important from Florida

From the Savannah Georgian, Dec. 12
We learn that last Tuesday, Micanopy and Cloud, the last nephew of Sam Jones, came into Fort Mellon, with about 20 warriors and surrendered themselves. Another informant states that Micanopy, Jumper, Tigertail, Tuskego, Cloud, Co-a-hadjo and Yahalucha had come in with about 30 Indians, men, women and children.

p. 1 col. 4 Death of Catharine Brant - Upper Canada papers announce the death at the Mohawk Village on the Grand River, of Catharine Brandt, relict of Captain Joseph Brant celebrated leader of the Six Nations, age 78 yrs. This Indian princess was a remarkable woman. She was the third wife of the distinguished chief, whose name during the American Revolution carried terror into every border hamlet, who was in her own right, by birth, the head of the great Indian Confederacy of the Six Nations. Hence, on her husband's death in 1807, she needed to name a successor to the head Chieftaincy of the alliance.

Jan. 18, 1838

She named her youngest son, the late John Brant, who died of cholera in 1832. She next appointed an infant grandchild, son of Col. J. William Kerr, who married the youngest daughter of Joseph Brandt. The little fellow is three quarters Mohawk, inheriting white blood from Sir William Johnson, of whom he is the great grandson. She was married to Capt. Joseph Brant in 1780. He took up the hatchet to fight for the British. He was given a gold finger ring with his name, Joseph Brant Thayendanegea engraved on it so in the event of his fall, his body might be known. After the war, he built a mansion at the head of Lake Ontario where he adopted the English style of living. After his death, his wife resumed the Indian style of living.

p. 3 col. 1 Western Reserve Teacher's Seminary and Kirtland Institute - The Mormons of Kirtland, Geauga Co., Ohio, having broken up and nearly all moved to the State of Missouri, it has been thought expedient to establish an institution of learning in the place and thus occupy the building which would otherwise remain comparatively useless. For this purpose, the use of their large and commodious Temple has been secured for five years from Sept. 1, 1838. In this edifice, we have a single school room sufficiently large to seat well, 200 hundred students. Other buildings can easily be obtained in the place for low rent in sufficient numbers to furnish 200 or 300 hundred students with private rooms and boarding houses. The Seminary and Institute will consist of two departments. For admission into either, students, unless advanced in their studies, must have attained the age of 14 yrs.

A correspondent of the St. Louis Gazette, says there are rumors of apprehended disturbances with the Mormons. They occupy Caldwell County exclusively and are making settlements in other counties. It seems one of their number became embroiled in a difficulty on the day of the election in Davies County, which ended in his death. Some of the Mormons have been maltreated by their own body and have spread their complaints into the neighboring counties. Large reinforcements have passed through this place on their way to join their brethren in Missouri

Egyptian Mummies – Mr. Buckingham writes of the singular uses of the mummies entombed in Egypt. The peasantry of Egypt procures them and breaks them in pieces to use as for fuel as they have little or no wood. For Medicine: In most bodies is found solid portions of the bitumen, or resinous drug which was used in embalming. This is taken and sold in large quantities to Portugal, Italy, France and England where it is pulverized and done up in small papers and sold as a most excellent drug to cure inward bruises. Mormon Campaign – We have been credibly informed by letters from different individuals living in the counties adjoining Far West, Missouri, that a warlike expedition has been recently planned, fitted out, and carried into execution by the celebrated modern Prophet Jo Smith Jr., alias the great western land pirate. An unusual excitement prevails in Far West, Missouri, and vicinity on account of a game of knock down between the Mormons and citizens of Davis County at an election held not long since. The Mormons were the first aggressors. They marched in mass in this last campaign to the magistrate's house and had him sign a document that the citizens would never take any measures against the Mormons, would aid in their defense and promote the view and interests of the Prophet and his followers.

The Mormons – From St. Louis Republican of Sept 19th

Fighting has taken place between the Mormons and the other citizens which resulted in some killing of a few of both parties. The citizens of Ray County sent a wagon load of arms and ammunition to the citizens of Davies County for the purpose of defending themselves. On their way, they were captured by the Mormons and taken to Far West. The Mormons are to be 1,000 strong and to have fortified their town, Far West. The citizens of Daviess County sent a letter to the people of Howard County calling on them to raise a force and come to their assistance in expelling the Mormons from the county. We understand that a large party of Mormons are now on their way from Canada to join their friends in Missouri.

For the last week, about 200 citizens have been assembled within one mile of De Witt, all well-armed and have one piece of artillery, threatening every day to attack the Mormons. On the 4th there was an attack made and many guns fired from both sides, but only one man wounded of the mob part, as they are called. A committee of six from several counties went to DeWitt to try to bring about a reconciliation. The citizens propose if the Mormons leave the county, they would pay them back for their property cost with ten percent interest and pay their expenses for going out of the county. The Mormons replied that they have been driven from place to place and they had determined they should be driven no more and were determined every one of them to die on the ground.

From a letter to the Governor from an officer of Davies County:

On the 15th inst. the Mormons were collecting in Far West, for the purposes of driving what they termed the mob from Davies. They have plundered, robbed, and burned every house in Gallatin (our county seat) and the post office. They have driven almost every individual in the county, who are now flying before them with their families—many have been forced out without their regular clothing and their wives and children wading through the snow without their shoes. The County Treasurer's Office has also been burnt.

p. 2 col. 4 The Mormon War at an End from the St. Louis Republican on Nov. 8

The war with the Mormons has been brought to a termination by the surrender of the whole Mormon force to the troops under command of Maj. Gen. Clark, near Far West. No resistance was offered to them, and Jo. Smith, Rigdon, White and three or four others of the leaders were detained by the commander of the forces, to await such proceedings as may be instituted against them.

Another account – From the St. Louis commercial Bulletin Nov. 8 Mormon Troubles Ended Again

The whole force of the Mormons surrendered to General Atchinson without firing a gun. The ringleaders are to be taken to Fort Jefferson and the rest (about 700) are to be marched without the bounds of the State.

Later Still and Contradictory – From the St. Louis Bulletin Nov. 9. A party of Mormons, who had fortified themselves in a house, were attacked by volunteers under the command of Gen. Lucan and 32 of them were killed—seven of the volunteers were wounded and one killed.

Who would have thought after the evacuation of about 2,000 Mormons, and an entire stagnation of all business, that the place would be filled up again so soon and the business be revived!

p. 3 col. 2 From Florida (from the N.Y. Com. Advertiser)

From a letter written at Black Creek, April 1
There is much excellent land on the peninsula, which, however, affords a fine hiding place for the Indians. Our army can travel with ease over the pine portion of it, but the dense hammocks present difficulties to the white man which he cannot overcome. I now believe twenty active Indians, such as we have to contend with, may keep 20,000 soldiers 20 yrs. chasing them, and then not one half of the 20 would be either killed or captured. The Indians know so well every hiding place. Their leader refuses all correspondence and threatens to shoot any messenger that may be sent to negotiate. The Indian will not treat for the country, for they say they do not want to negotiate for what is theirs.

Order of the Day – National Salute, 26 guns at sunrise

Procession will be formed at 11 o'clock in front of M. P. Sweet's Hotel under the direction of Maj. E. Woodman and J. A. Potter, Marshals of the Day. All will march to the bower prepared for the occasion, when an oration will be delivered by W. Tillotson, Esq. Afterwards, the company will sit down to a sumptuous dinner prepared by Mr. M. Sweet. After the cloth is removed, appropriate toasts will be read.

After the celebration, there will be a splendid ball at the Fairport Prospect Hall, of A. Cable Esq.

Mormonism - The public is much excited on the subject of a recent development of Mrs. Davison, former the wife of Mr. Solomon Spalding. Mrs. Davidson related the principal facts in the book "Mormonism Unveiled." One paragraph from her not in the book, "Sidney Rigdon who has figured largely in the history of the Mormons, was at this time (1815) connected with the printing office of Mr. Paterson in Pittsburgh— here he had the opportunity of becoming acquainted with Mr. Spalding's manuscript and copying it if he chose."

The County of Lake

The bill creating the County of Lake has become a law. The county is composed of the townships of Madison, LeRoy, part of Thompson, Perry, Concord, Painesville, Mentor, and Kirtland from Geauga County, and Willoughby from Cuyahoga County. They embrace not less than 7 considerable villages, namely, Painesville, Fairport, Richmond, Willoughby, Kirtland, Centreville and Unionville. The erection of buildings in Painesville will be done by voluntary contributions of the citizen of Painesville.

But few persons have ever arrived at years of maturity who were born deaf, dumb, and blind.

unknown." The coroner has sent the following description:

One thumb was deformed. A number of scars on his legs having the appearance of old sores. Hair black. Entirely naked when found. Probably 30 – 40 yrs. of age. On the 22nd, about half a mile from the place where the body was discovered, there was found a shirt and a shroud, with a piece of rope, and a barrel cut and knocked to pieces. The body was deposited in the grave yard at Mentor. Clark Parker, Coroner.

The supposition is that the body above described had been disinhumed for dissecting purposes. We have been informed of certain other occurrences not far from the same place, of a like nature.

p. 2 col. 6 Winter Cabbages – Mr. Ashbel Munson, of Mentor, has presented the editor with a fine head of cabbage grown in his own garden since December. We have heard of cabbages grown out of doors in the winter. Mr. Munson's way is to dig a trench 2 or 3 feet deep, place at the bottom earth suitable for cabbages to grow in, set his plants therein, form a cover in the shape of a roof to carry off the water and cover it just sufficient to protect the vegetable from frost.

An English paper mentions that Mr. Creeley, a surgeon of Aylesbury, has demonstrated the important fact, that small pox and cow pox have the same origin, the latter being small pox communicated to the cow. He inoculated cows with small pox matter and the vesicle produced had every appearance of the vaccine pox. He then inoculated children with the matter taken from the cow, thus artificially infecting them, the result was a genuine vaccine vesicle. The children were then submitted to smallpox disease. In countries where cow pox cannot be procured, now it is only necessary to inoculate a cow with the small pox which will be converted to a mild fluid to inoculate humans.

School House Burnt – The school house in Madison, near the residence of David Baily, was burned to the ground Monday night. All the books and furniture were destroyed.

The Mormons – Arrest of Jo. Smith

From a private letter from a highly respectable gentleman residing near the Mormon city, Nauvoo, it seems the scenes which a few months since were enacted in Missouri are in danger of being repeated in Iowa. There is a tract of land lying directly opposite the Mormon settlement on the Mississippi River. The tract was given to the Sac and Fox nations by the United States. There had been a proceeding in the Equity Court of Iowa to partition these lands and to survey and divide them among the lawful claimants. Some months since, Jo. Smith received a revelation from God to the effect that the Latter-Day Saints should go in and possess this land, and claim a title by the Creator. They have taken much valuable timber and forbid the Commissioners and Surveyors, on pain of death, to attempt to survey and partition. "Jo. Smith was yesterday arrested between Nauvoo and Quincy, by the authorities of Illinois, on a requisition from the Gov. of Missouri." N. Y. Journal of Commerce

p. 3 col. 3 Martin Harris, who was one of the witnesses to the book of Mormon, and who has been for some time lecturing in Illinois against the Mormons, was found dead last week, having been shot through the head. He was no doubt murdered. Journal of Commerce

Some 12 or 15 teams passed through his place last week loaded with Mormons bound for Nauvoo. They were from Oswego and St. Lawrence counties, N. Y.

Fine Fruit – Colbert Huntington, of this town, presented us one day last week with a basket of strawberries from his garden, superior in flavor and equal in size to any fruit of the kind we have seen. The largest measure 3-3/8 inches in circumference. They are called by him the melon strawberry.

p. 3 col. 4 Sheriff's Sale – About 15 cords of fire wood taken as the property of Saml. Burrige to satisfy a writ.

Sheriff's Sale – Five steers, two cows and three heifers will be sold taken at the suit of John H. Mathews vs Philander Winchester.

Sheriff's Sale – A lumber wagon, a sleigh and a pair of oxen will be sold taken at the suit of the Bank of Marshall vs David Montgomery and Hiram B. Sumner.

p. 4 col. 1 A Most Singular Death – Mr. Jos. B. Grimshawe, one of the first woolen manufacturers in Oneida Co. (N.Y.) was killed while on a canal boat. The horses towing the boat turned and ran back down the towpath, breaking the tow line which flew through the air and around Mr. Grimshaw's neck, dragging him into the canal and for a mile before the horses could be stopped.

p. 1 col. 6 A Desolating Scourge – Article describing a dreadful epidemic in the American colonies which commenced May, 1735, at Kingston, an inland town of New Hampshire, and spread to the neighboring towns and villages. In two years, it had reached the Hudson River and then spread south and west. It was generally dominated by putrid sore throat. In the history of New Hampshire, it states that not less than one thousand persons died, of whom 900 were under 20 yrs. of age. In an attempt to stop the disease, mercury was introduced in the treatment.

p. 2 col. 5 The Coroner was called yesterday to hold an inquest on the body of a man who died

p. 2 col. 7 Mormonism – Information provided by Gen. John C. Bennet, the author of the expositions of Joe Smith's character and conduct.

As I promised to lay before you some of the strong points of objection to the 'gathering of the saints,' or the congregation of the Mormons at one point or general headquarters, I now proceed to redeem the pledge.

1. One hundred and 99 thousandths of all the faithful of the Mormon church regard Joe Smith as God's Viceregent on earth and obey him accordingly. If any state office, in the administration of public justice happens to give offence to the Prophet, it becomes the will of God, as spoken by the Prophet, that the functionary should die and the faithful saints immediately set about the work of assassination.
2. Where a large community like the Mormons are under the absolute dictation of a capricious tyrant, like Joe Smith, political demagogues will become fawning sycophants and the best interests of the country will be sacrificed.
3. The standard or morality and Christian excellence with them is quite unstable. Acts which but yesterday were considered immoral, wicked or devilish, today are moral, righteous and God-like because God has so declared it by the mouth of his Prophet.
4. Joe Smith designs to abolish all human laws and establish a Theocracy, in which the word of God, spoken by Joe's mouth, shall be the law.
5. Under the new order of things, all property of the saints is to be consecrated to Joe.

p. 3 col. 5 Dissolution – The partnership existing under the firm of D. Donaldson & Co., has this day expired by limitation. Painesville

p. 3 col. 3 Runaway Slave – Last Monday three Kentuckians arrived in this village on their way to Madison Centre, in this county, to arrest a runaway slave who has been lecturing on slavery throughout the Reserve. His trial in Centerville resulted in the delivery of the slave over to his master; but before they had left the room, they were served a warrant to appear before Esquire Cunningham, Unionville, to answer for assault. They took the slave and were proceeding to the place of trial when the road on the line between the two counties was blocked up by the stoppage of wagons and carriages, which caused them to pass into Ashtabula Co. The moment they crossed the line, the Deputy Sheriff of that county and his posse stopped the carriage and demanded the negro under a writ of habeas corpus. The negro was surrendered.

Melancholy Accident and Death – Mr. Daniel Burr, of Mentor, last Friday night went with his two sons to assist in catching a coon which they had treed. Mr. Burr cut down the tree, but the tree fell against another breaking off a limb which struck Mr. Burr on the shoulder blade, breaking it and his ribs on the left side. He lingered about five hours and died. He was about 65 yrs. old and a devout member of the Methodist Church.

p. 2 col. 5 Look Out for Burglars. Mr. Jonathan Goldsmith, who resided about 2 miles west of this town on the road to Cleveland, related an incident that happened Monday of last week. He found a man standing near his gate leading to the barn. He was putting a bag of grain upon the horse. Looking into the bag, the contents belonged to Mr. Goldsmith. The stranger protested his innocence and said he would leave his horse, saddle and bridle there until he could catch up with his companion who was responsible for taking the grain. The man disappeared and it is assumed the horse, saddle and bridle were stolen and the man was part of a gang of thieves who had been prowling about the neighborhood.

p. 2 col. 2 Mammoth Squashes – Mr. Thomas Wilder of our village, raised this season three squashes, weighing severally 107, 75, and 66 lbs., from one seed.

Mr. Smith of Mentor, exhibited one at the Fair weighing 111 lbs. but there were no others on the same vine.

p. 2 vol. 3 Agricultural Fair – First came 43 pairs of oxen, preceded by a band of martial music, and attached to a large and commodious vehicle got up for the occasion. On board of this carriage, all sorts of trades and occupations were carried on while approaching the town, such as, flax dressing, coopering, shoemaking, tailoring, broom making, corn-shelling, grain threshing, blacksmithing, horseshoeing, & c. Following the carriage was a man sowing seed and a team harrowing. Next on, a wagon drawn by eight splendid grey horses, came the Mentor Polymnion Band, whose excellent music filled the air.

Oct. 18 1843

In the same carriage were 35 ladies engaged in knitting, sewing, spinning and various other employment.

Next came a wagon drawn by four “spanking bays,” and containing the select school of Mr. Wilson, which consisted of some 40 or 50 children, organized with perfect system and order, attending to their studies and recitations, and receiving instruction from their preceptor. Among the other teams present, was one from Chardon, Geauga Co., which attracted much attention. It consisted of 13 yoke of oxen and 65 span of horses, all owned by Orrin Tucker, Esq. accompanied with some 15 or 20 men in his employ.

Mr. Asa Childs, of this town, exhibited at the Fair a superb plated single harness.

write a history of the Western Reserve. The editor while in Jefferson, heard the story below being read to the Ashtabula County Historical Society.

An Irishman, who lived in the western part of New York state, taking with him a cow and an axe, and made his way along the southern shore of Lake Erie. Leading his cow, he was able to travel along the shore for some way, but found he needed to go inland to avoid deep ravines and gulfs. While on one of these changes in route, he lost his bearing and became bewildered and lost. To find the lake shore again, he tied his cow to a tree and started out with his axe. He walked in the woods 3 whole days, with no food, but did not find the lake, and what was worse, could not find his cow. In a hopeless condition of despair, to his great joy, he found his cow. "Well, Jamie," inquired a friend to whom he was relating the story, "how did you feel when wandering about half starved, with no hope of meeting any human being to help you?" "Och, sure, it was myself," says Jamie, "that prayed the Lord to take my life at once, or else show me the cow!"

p. 2 col. 4 Shocking Murder! Truman Allen was stabbed to death when arresting a man named Britton for disturbing the Military Encampment. Britton was in a gang of desperadoes who had organized a mock military company "Hell Fire Insurance Company," and had sworn in advance to break up the military encampment to be held at Burton and made threats as to the fate of any person who should attempt to resist them. The Military had scarcely set up their tents before Britton and his associates started trouble; he was arrested and brought into Camp, but soon discharged upon his promise that he would go away and not make any more difficulty. But shortly, he started to make a disturbance again, and Mr. Allen, who was one of the sentinels on duty, was ordered to arrest him. Seeing Britton sitting on a rise, Mr. Allen put his hand on Britton's shoulder, when Britton stabbed him in the heart and he fell down dead. The guard had some difficulty capturing Britton but took him into the Camp where he remained until he was delivered to the civil authorities the next morning.

p. 2 col. 2 Temple at Nauvoo – The building of the Mormon Temple under all the troubles by which those people have been surrounded, seems to be carried on with religious enthusiasm as of olden times. The Temple is 128 feet by 88; from floor to roof 65 feet. Each floor is estimated to hold 4,000 people so that 12,000 can be accommodated. The building should be finished in a year and a half, with 350 men working zealously. The Mormons are governed by a Council of 12:

Young, Brigham

Kimball, H. C.

Pratt, Parley P.

Hyde, Orson

Richards, Willard

p. 1 col. 3 (from the Cleveland Herald)

Letter from the Mormon War—Another Anti-Mormon Killed. We have a long letter from the Editor of the St. Louis Republican--dated Sept. 18. Samuel McBratney, one of the incendiaries engaged in burning the Mormons out on Bear Creek was killed by the Sheriff's posse. He was shot from his horse and otherwise mangled by the Mormons. The Mormons declared if the law failed to protect them, they had the power to protect themselves. The Sheriff sent a communication to Col. Williams requiring him and other leaders of the mob to come in and submit to the law. Symptoms of trouble were manifesting themselves At Keokuk, Iowa Territory, the citizens of the township resolved that the Mormons should not live there and sent a petition to the Gov. requesting to have them removed. The St. Louis papers of the 21st, the Mormons between 600-800 under the command of Sheriff Backenstos and E. A. Bedell, Postmaster at Warsaw marched into that place. The anti-Mormons had fled across the river. The people of Quincy have called a public meeting to take into consideration the disturbances in Hancock Co. Gov. Ford, of Illinois, refuses to take any measures and expresses his determination to let them fight it out.

p. 2 col. 4 The Agricultural Fair – The farmers of the Western Reserve have met with a reverse in consequence of the oppressive drought this last season, from which they will not entirely recover for years to come. The failure of the hay crop compelled them to reduce their stocks of cattle.

All other crops have suffered more or less from the drouth and the grasshoppers, and added to this the destruction of the fruit by the early frosts. As a consequence of all this the Fair that took place was meagre indeed.

Mammoth Cheese – From the dairy of Mr. Ezra Holmes, of Kirtland, the cheeses were of an average of 80 lbs. each.

p. 2 col. 5 Body Snatching – Some gentlemen from Austinburgh passed through this town Monday night in pursuit of Dr. Shelby, who is charged with robbing the grave of a Mrs. Preston, and also of a child of Mr. Lucius Austin. The bodies were discovered at Ashtabula Harbor, boxed up and directed to T. Sherwood, Cleveland, O. The shipment of the box was delayed and the offensive odor from it led to an examination of the contents. The bodies were recognized by some people from Austinburgh.

p. 3 col. 1 Headquarters, 1st Brig., 21st Div. O. V. M.- Painesville, Special Order

As a tribute of respect to our deceased companion, the late Truman Allen, Orderly Sergeant of the Montville Light Infantry, who was assassinated while on duty at the Encampment recently held at Burton, the officers will wear crepe in their sword hilts, and the soldiers on the left arm, below the elbow, for the period of 30 days. By order of Brig. Gen. E. A. Paine, and O. J. Lines, Capt.

p. 1 col. 3 A new feature for Oregon – There is a curiosity in Oregon greater than the Falls of Niagara or the Mammoth Cave, Kentucky. Should we extend our territory over North Oregon as far as the Bomanzoff mountains, near the 70th parallel, we shall reach that latitude where the sun does not set in the summer. Near the mountains in the summer, the sun appears to stand as still as it did in the days of Joshua. In June, it is 25 degrees above the horizon at "midnight," and the only mode of knowing that it is "midnight," is watching the sun when it begins to ascend. In the winter, it is of course, the reverse, as in the high latitudes the sun is not seen for 6 weeks. Newburyport Herald

The resolutions involved measures to punish those who rob graves. Petitions were sent to General Assembly and a bill was introduced that was mutilated by a few Doctors of Medicine, members of the body, until it presents no features on which we can rely on for protection against grave robbery.

Resolutions were passed to ask, again through our representatives in the General Assembly, to authorize Justices of the Peace to issue search warrants upon affidavits as in other cases;

That anyone grave robbing should be sentenced to the penitentiary for 3- 10 yrs.;

That every Professor of Anatomy and Surgery in every medical school or college in this state, will forfeit the sum of $1,000 if the college or school shall receive any dead human body for dissection or other purposes unless it has been legally procured.

p. 3 col. 2 Indian News – Battle between the Blackfeet and the Crow Indians – The St. Louis Revue has intelligence from Fort F. A. C. near the Falls of the Missouri, of a four-days battle between parties of the Crow and Blackfeet tribes. In the first battle, the Crows killed 22, wounded as many more and took upwards of 100 women and children prisoners, and captured 300 horses. The Blackfeet reinforced and rallied, attacked the Crows, and fought so desperately that the Crows were compelled to retreat to a place they had strongly fortified; which they succeeded in reaching with all their plunder, through most of the prisoners escaped. A number of Crows were killed.
