We spent a pleasant hour recently with an old friend whom we have not seen for many years—Mr. T. J. Dille (son of the late General Dille of Mentor) now and for years past a resident of this place. Mr. D. has been an invalid for months—most of the time confined to the house, but although feeble in body is as active in mind as in days of old.

We have been shown a slip from an old paper giving the court proceedings of the Feb. term in the year 1819 in Cuyahoga County. Gov. Tod was Judge, and Thos. Card, of Willoughby, was one of the Associates. Among the Grand Jury we noticed the names of Abel Nash, Lewis Miller, and Joseph Waldo; and on the Petit Jury, Hezekiah Ferguson—all at that time of Willoughby.

Death of Mrs. Gunn: Mrs. Sarah Adeline Gunn died at the residence of her husband in Willoughby on the evening of Apr. 9, 1879. Mrs. Gunn was born in the state of New York, Dec. 28, 1829. Her maiden name was Forsythe. She was married in 1852 and became a resident of the community for the remainder of her life. There were 3 children, one of which preceded his mother in death. She was a member of the M.E. Church of this place.

Death of an Old Resident: Mrs. Sarah Smith, 93 years old, relict of Obadiah Smith, died at the residence of her adopted daughter, Mrs. Hunt, near Ashtabula, Apr. 8, 1879. Born Sept. 8, 1786, she moved to Willoughby Township in 1815. She had no children of her own and reared several orphan children. She was a member of the Baptist Church.

General article describing Willoughby. Mentions Joseph Boyce who has a grist mill on the river and J. W. Penfield who runs a foundry. The later employs a large number of workmen in the manufacture of brick and tile machines of which he is the inventor. These machines have taken first prizes at several of our state fairs.

The population of Willoughby is between 1,000-2,000 people. There are five churches: Methodist, Presbyterian, Disciple, Universalist, and Catholic. There is, also, an Episcopal Society in town, but they do not hold services regularly now.

In the Union School, the primary and grammar schools have 8 years of study, and the High School has a 3 years’ course. The College has a 4 years’ course and graduates a few nearly every year; but its chief aim is to prepare students for the larger colleges and universities.

Our city presents so many attractions that many come from the city to spend the summer here. This number will be greatly augmented by increased hotel facilities.

Death of an Aged Citizen
Mr. Welcome Ackley, of Willoughby, Lake Co., died. Mr. Ackley was born in Palmyra, Wayne Co. N. Y., in 1807 where he learned the business of carriage and wagon making. In 1834 he immigrated to this county and first settled on a farm near what was then known as Newell’s Corners. Soon after, he established himself in his vocation of wagon making in Mentor. Later he purchased the farm, now occupied by his son Mr. C. C. Ackley, on Mentor St. From this place he moved to Willoughby, where for 9 years, he lived in a dignified but useful retirement. For the past 9 years he was a constant sufferer of severe neuralgia in the head. He died on June 19, 1879, probably from this illness, at age 71 years and 6 months.

Willoughby Plains
The tornado that swept across the Plains from the northwest was one of the severest we have had in years—tearing down fences, trees, unroofing barns and chimneys, and demoralizing things in general. It struck the south shore of the lake about 3 p.m. Beginning at Mr. Ethan Downing’s, it took part of his barn roof, then the chimney was blown off Mr. M. E. Grays new house. Mr. Sam Brown had a large apple tree fall on his lumber wagon damaging it considerably. His nice peach orchard was nearly all blown down. It cleared Mr. Palmer’s yard of cherry trees, taking down 3. In 5 or 6 acres in the woods, 18 large trees were down besides others partially blown down. Mr. M. E. Gray’s had a path mowed through some 6-8 rods wide. Every able bodied man was employed in taking care of the stock that was roaming.

Mr. Henry Palmer bound two acres of wheat one day last week and kept up with the reaper. Who can beat it?
Jimmie Campbell, about 10 years old, was raking hay with a sulky rake when the horse kicked him in the shin, tearing the skin some 4 – 5 inches and making a fearful wound. Dr. Davis was called in.
The lawn fete at Mr. Citterley’s on Tuesday evening collected $10 in proceeds to go to the M. E. Church.

Orange
During the heavy thunderstorm last Thursday, the lightning struck the cheese factory, which is known as the Cathan factory, and knocked out one of the posts.
A mad dog created quite an excitement a few days ago by entering the kitchen where Mrs. John Kidd was baking. The alarm was given and the neighbors soon appeared and shot the dog when it was found in the pantry. None knew where the dog came from.

Mr. Ira Henderson who was bitten previously by a dog, which was thought to be mad—the report was false.
Mr. Frank Bell, of Cleveland, spent the Sabbath in company with his family at his father’s, James Bell.
Miss Treasure Wadsworth, of Garrettsville, spent a couple days with her friend Miss Olive Luse.
Horace Dewey returned from Meadville, Penn., where he had been at school for the last year.

Mentor Plains
Geo. Dickey asked for help to lift timber and put it in order; result, a barn 40 x 80. The barn is north of Mentor Depot, near the sand line of the Plains. We had a long pull, a strong pull, and a pull altogether; a beautiful dinner, good feeling; and we return to our own work again.
C. Craine has, also, thought to tear down and build greater and put up a cozy barn 24 x 36.
Elijah Stadden, of Columbus, and Henry Stadden, of Newark, Ohio, are visiting friends in this vicinity. They are brothers of Mrs. Simeon Stone sidewalks are now in front of Mr. N. C. Smith and Mr. J. H. Boyce residences.

The Town Council gave Mr. Bond permission to take down the shade tree now in front of his new building.

Dr. S. L. Blachley, of Washington, Penn., paid a flying visit to Mr. T. J. Dille, and other relatives in Ohio last week. This week Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Harker, from Pittsburg, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dille. Mr. Harker is largely engaged in the manufacture of hollow ware.

We have often read of young ladies in the west going into the harvest fields and making themselves useful, but we never saw it fully carried out until last week. On Mr. Gilson’s farm, one of his daughters managed a sulky hay rake with all the skill and ease of an expert.

The funeral of Mr. Judd, father of M. W. Judd, took place Sunday afternoon last. Rev. Mr. Robinson officiating. The deceased was 67 years of age and died on the same farm where born. He was interred in the cemetery on Waite Hill.

Someone entered the house of Mr. Ruder, Thursday night. Nothing was missed but a can of cherries.

Mrs. Ferguson, generally known to our residents as Aunt Patty, left a few days ago for a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Thos. Wilson, at Warren. She was accompanied by her son, Wm. S. The old lady is between 80 and 90 years old.

Mills, the stage driver to Chester, had reached the Kirtland road when Friday’s storm commenced. Such was the blinding fury that his team became almost unmanageable. Fortunately, he received assistance from Mr. Tillinghast, securing the horses and giving them protection until the storm ceased.

A suit to dissolve an attachment. The parties being Wm. Skinner, O. F. Stanton, both of Ashtabula Co. C. D. Clark and Theodore Hall, appeared for the plaintiff, and C. J. Komar, H. Alvord, and R. L. Stillman for the defense. It was ruled the attachment was valid. Since then a suit for replevin has resulted in favor of Mr. Stanton.

Deliberate Attempt at Poisoning

Mrs. S. M. Wilson, owning and occupying a large and beautiful residence on Euclid St. inside the corporate limits since the death of her parents, has been carrying on the work of the farm. The first act of violence toward her occurred the last part of Dec. when a favorite cow was discovered in the yard with a broken leg. Not many days later the hired man was taken violently sick with vomiting and pains in the back and head. He left the farm some 3-4 weeks after this first attack—and that is probably all that saved his life. About the last of Jan., Mrs. Wilson was, also, taken sick with similar symptoms. All this time her fowls were dying off in numbers. On Feb. 11, she employed Mr. James Rutland to take charge of her farm. Soon after coming, this man and his 15 year old son became sick with the same symptoms. In the later part of March, Miss Lucy Alvord, of Painesville, came here for a visit and was almost immediately taken “deathly sick.” On May 6, a German servant girl, named Mary Keidel, was brought from Cleveland, and within a week she became sick and was near to dying. Mrs. Wilson forced herself from her bed to go to Cleveland to lay the case before her physician, Dr. D. B. Smith. He pronounced it was a case of poisoning by strychnine. Before her return she ascertained that the water in the well had been poisoned, and then caused it to be all pumped out. This she does repeatedly but does not dare to use the water except for the stock. The well is situated in the woodshed at the rear of the house and has a wooden cover.

On Waite Hill
Mr. H. G. Tryon pulled down his old barn and built greater. The barn proper is 65 x 45 feet. There is a basement underneath and one half fitted with stalls for cattle which will be fed through an aperture in the floor above, avoiding the carrying or littering of fodder from outside. The north end of the basement is intended for storing fruits, vegetables and root crops. A team can be driven in and loaded or unloaded. Carpenter work was done by Mr. Thos. Brichford, of Waite Hill, and the mason work by Messrs. Williams & Gillmore, of south Kirtland.

In Waite Hill, the storm of hurricane force on Friday afternoon about 2 p.m. leveled 26 large and valuable apple trees belonging to Mr. H. G. Tryon. Mr. J. H. Tryon’s place, also, shows the effect of the tornado quite severely. Mr. George Waite had 2 sheep killed by a falling limb and two others so severely injured they had to be killed. On the Plains, Mr. C. J. Richardson had 160 rods of fence displaced. Mr. Youmans lost a number of sheep and Mr. Joel Reeves, a colt. Mr. Oliver Andrews and Mr. Whitney, also, suffered damage. At west Mentor, Gen. Garfield had a yearling killed by a falling limb; John Pratt had a barn unroofed. Mr. Aldrich and others lost considerable timber.

Bennie Fowler had a narrow escape from drowning on Wednesday at what is known as the diving hole on the river. In company of other boys who had gone for the purpose of bathing, he was standing on the brink when one of the boys pushed him in the water. Young Moloney tried to rescue him, but was not able to hold him. As he was sinking for the third time, Geo. Goodrich grabbed him and brought him safely to land.

Painesville
Gen. Casement and family went east this morning expecting to be gone several weeks. They plan to visit the different watering places.
Mr. F. F. Bernard, proprietor of the Fairport Nursery, started this afternoon for New York, from whence he sails for his old home in Switzerland where his mother now resides and whom he makes a journey to visit.

Collamer
Mr. J. P. Ogram held a lawn fete at his residence and spacious grounds July 15.
The West property changed hands not long since. This place, 4 2/3 acres on Euclid St., about 3 ½ miles from city limits, which sold for $4,000 five years ago, went for a sweeping reduction from the sum under mortgage foreclosure. Mr. Gilbert A. Bray, of Cleveland, is the purchaser.

Mr. Charles Adams and family, formerly of Cleveland, but more recently of St. Louis, Mo. are enjoying the refreshing lake at Collamer.

Kirtland
There was almost a fatal accident last Wednesday at the residence of Mr. Henry Lee, south east of the center. Mr. Allen Sperry was riding with his brother and little daughter, and when coming down a hill just east of Lee’s, the whippetrees became unfastened, thus, letting the wagon onto the horses, at which they started to run.
Mr. Charles Sperry sprang out hoping to hold the wheels, and perhaps keep the wagon from hitting the horses’ heels, but failed in the attempt, and the horses ran on down the hill throwing the little girl out. At the same time the wagon tongue struck the ground throwing Mr. Sperry several feet in the air, and he came down upon a sharp stone bruising and cutting.

him in a fearful manner. Four of his ribs were broken. Dr. Moore was immediately summoned and later Drs. Davis and Pomeroy were called. He is lying in a very critical condition, although is reported today as improving.

Jimmy Spear, one of our sailor boys, is home for a time, having the misfortune to lose one of his thumbs. While on duty his hand became entangled in a rope, thus causing the accident. Miss Rubie Damon goes this week to Lebanon to attend the graduating exercises of the Normal Institute in that place. Mr. Wm. Moore had half a ton of hay stolen from his meadow last Sunday night.

The Chardon cemetery vault now being built by Mr. Gloin, is located on the west of the central, north and south driveway, facing north and near the center of the cemetery. The outer dimensions are 17 feet x 22 feet.

From Chagrin Falls Exponent
Simon VanValkenburgh, of Russell, met with quite a serious accident on Monday. While mowing, a stone got stuck in the cutting bar of his machine which stopped it so suddenly that the oil can was thrown off, and as Mr. V. stepped down to remove the stone, his foot struck the point of the can which entered the hollow of his foot and came to the surface on top. His cramping pains were so severe on Tuesday, that his friends were much afraid that lockjaw might be the result.

From the Painesville Advertiser
A. L. Tinker and wife took the Pacific Express Thursday evening on an extended north western tour for health and pleasure. They go first to Bismark and then to Lake Winnipeg.

It is a good guess that E. T. C. Aldrich, of Mentor; S. C. Carpenter, of Kirtland; and G. W. Clement, of Willoughby; will be candidates for Republican representative.

For recorder, the candidates are the present incumbent, S. A. Tisdal and John Curtis, of Kirtland. A. P. Barber is the only candidate for Commissioner.

p. 3 Gen. Daniel McLeod died at Cleveland Tuesday, 101 years old. Mrs. Welcome Ackley has been spending a week or more visiting friends in Chester. Deacon L. P. and Mrs. Bates returned Monday from their trip to New England. Miss Minnie Wood, of Painesville, is spending the week with her friend Miss Annie Merrill. Narrow escape from Poisoning
The son of Mr. T. H. Burr prevailed upon his mother to make him some lemonade. He picked up a piece of copper tube or pipe which had formerly belonged to an air gun and used it to imbibe. He became very sick and Dr. Davis was called in. There is no doubt the pipe was thickly coated with verdigris, a certain poison.

It does seem those fellows on Waite Hill were bound to prosper: Tryon has a new colossal barn, Presley a new commodious dwelling house, and in passing Hill's the other day, we heard the ring of a new piano.

Early Peaches
Mr. J. H. Tryon exhibited to us a number of specimens of Early Peaches which were very fair to look upon considering the dry weather.

Mr. Sol Presley has nearly completed a new dwelling house on Waite Hill. Messrs. Joel Miller and Lucian Saxton are the masons; Messrs. Thos. Brichford and Oscar Yaxley were carpenters.

Mr. Sharpe, in not finding his wallet under his pillow where he put it, raised the alarm of burglars in the night. It was the talk of the town until Mr. Sharpe found the wallet inside the pillow slip and not under it where he thought he put it.

A young Vulcan made his appearance at the residence of our village blacksmith, M. S. McFarland.

Mr. Hafle’s child, who was kicked by a horse and had serious injury last week, is improving.

Miss Nettie Campbell is visiting friends in Claridon. She has been unable to walk for a year or more and her many friends will be glad to hear of her returning health.

On Sunday last, Mr. Jas. Allen lost a cap from a buggy between the residence of the late Mr. Benj. Carpenter and this village.

Mentor

Extracts from a letter of one of the editors of the Warren Tribune after a visit to Mentor and the Plains:

Mr. Robert Radcliffe, the popular postmaster, keeps in connection with the post office, a general store. A short distance from the store is his handsome residence.

Less than one mile from the lake is the farm and residence of Mr. S. F. Whitney. He is a widower but his wife’s place at the head of the house is ably filled by his daughter, Miss Nellie Whitney.

A little to the north is Lake Erie. At what is called “the Points” on the farm of Mr. Whitney is one of the finest picnic grounds in the vicinity.

The people of the Ridge had a pleasant social Wednesday night on the grounds of Mr. Legget Ferguson. Mr. H. C. Ferguson had charge of the bag, and we should judge the contents were satisfactory.

Mr. Warren whose family connections are quite large, will remain in this and the neighboring county for several weeks.

Narrow Escape

Mr. Wm. Hennessey was driving along River street last Saturday, his horse suddenly began to back towards the wash bank. Mr. H. sprang to the ground and grabbing the horse by the bits endeavored to stop him. His strength was not equal to the task, however, and in a short time horse, wagon and a young girl disappeared into the foliage that lines the bank. Fortunately, the girl was not injured beyond a few bruises; her escape from death seems almost miraculous. The horse was instantly killed and the wagon smashed to pieces. This is not the first accident of the kind that has happened along the steep bank.

Kirtland

Visit to some vineyards and orchards: Mr. J. H. Tryon, situated in the south west portion of the township bought his land 11 or 12 years ago, of 8 acres. Ridiculed at the time for buying the land which many believed was not rich enough to grow even white beans, it was found to be very good for growing grapes.

The Camp

Horses on the Rampage
About noon on Tuesday our village had several exciting runaways. A horse hitched in front of the barber shop became frightened of something, broke loose and ran down Erie St. in a lively manner. When opposite Kennedy’s store, the carriage upset, and when near the new brick block the horse attempted to pass between a tree and a hitching post, but the carriage struck and brought the animal to a halt. During the excitement, the horse nearly backed through one of the large plate windows of the new store room. The carriage was badly smashed and the horse gashed considerably. Mr. Jas. Robinson, of Mentor, owned the rig. While the above was in progress, a blind horse belonging to Mr. Russell Fuller became scared and started on a graceful lope, bringing up against the fence of Mr. S. Smart which took the run out of him and left bad bruises.
A saddle pony belonging to Mr. Geo. A. Baker, also, got loose and tried to speed along the street.
At the same time a team owned by Mr. M. E. Gray longed for freedom and pulled so hard on the ropes that the iron hitching post in front of Mr. Skiff’s came down.

p. 2 Pioneer Meeting at Orange

There was a pioneer meeting Aug. 29th. One of the speakers was Mr. Baldwin, of Aurora, who was one of the first men to run down the Ohio River to New Orleans. Ninety-three years ago he moved to this place that is now called Cleveland. The Indians were very numerous and sometimes quite troublesome. The Chief, Seneca, lived in Brooklyn, and he often walked with Seneca and Tecumseh when he was a boy 8 or 9 years old.

Mr. Warren Thorp spoke. His parents came from Conn. with an ox team in 1799. They encountered a great many hardships; and if his mother had not been able to use a gun, they would have starved a great many times when father was away. One time she killed two bears, and once, when an Indian’s dog had treed a bear, father shot at it and missed; another man shot at it with no better success. Then mother took the gun and on the first shot, the bear came down.

At the relic table for exhibit were:

A Christening blanket over 200 years old owned by Horace Cowles, of Bainbridge.

A canteen carried by Bial Worden in the Revolutionary War.

A copy of the New England Weekly Journal dated Monday, April 8, 1728.
Sept. 5, 1879
A sword, pistol, and gun used in the War of 1812.
A pair of andirons cast in 1844 by the father of J. W. Williams at Chagrin Falls.
An iron shovel 75 years old.
A war club from the South Sea Islands.
Mrs. Kelly, of Russell sat down and spun some flax on a little wheel that was over 75 years old, showing how our mothers used to make cloth.
A grain sickle over 50 years old owned by J. H. Luse, of Orange.
The annual gathering of the Disciples of Christ took place on the farm of Thomas Carrel, of Munson, from Fri., Aug. 29 – Mon., Sept. 1

Waite Hill
Last Sunday, about 6 o’clock in the evening, Mr. Grove Curtis, of Kirtland, now a student at Kenyon College was driving rapidly along the road between my house and the saw mill when his horse took fright at some cows in the road and shied off—into the ditch throwing Mr. C. out and overturning the buggy. The horse fell but was upon his feet in an instant, rearing and plunging, the driver still clinging to the lines and directing the horse towards the fence. The horse dashed through the fence and fell headlong; before he could recover, Mr. Curtis was holding him down firmly on the ground. The horse was but slightly bruised, the man a scratched face and a lame arm, and a big hole in the fence.

B. F. Jenks has been slightly under the weather—perhaps too many cucumbers the cause.
One of Porter Rice’s fine draft horses is sick with a diseased throat. Mr. Rice, although, a very careful man with horses; seems to have bad luck with them: Two killed by falling through the Valley Bridge some three years since; one dying about a year since and the other day one plunged into a brook six or eight feet deep, lighting on its back and firmly wedged between two boulders. It was barely saved from death by two of his helpers.

p. 2 The Location of Waite Hill
by A. P. H. and H. G. Tryon
In answer to your inquiry, I would say the territory comprising Waite Hill is situated in the west part of Kirtland and the east part of Willoughby about an equal amount in each township—being something like 1,000 acres in all. When the writer first became acquainted there (1833), there were three families living within its bounds named Waite, to wit: Erastus Waite, Luther Waite, and Alvin Waite. Soon after Orange H. Waite came there to live. None of the original Waites are left except Geo.
Oct. 3, 1879
Waite—grandson on Erastus. The Tryons came about the year 1846. The main part of this area was purchased at an early date by a former well-known pioneer and lifelong citizen, Samuel Tomlison, in Kirtland Township, and William Waite, father of Erastus, Alvin and Luther F. Waite, in Willoughby Township.

Death of Mr. Strong
Mr. J. H. Strong, for many years a highly respected citizen of this village, died at this home on Euclid St. last Sunday morning. For years Mr. Strong has been in poor health but seldom confined to the house. An asthmatical affliction, that had troubled him for years, came upon him in his last sickness and added greatly to his sufferings. He had been home only a few days at the time of his death.
Mr. Strong was born in the village 47 years ago, and had always made this place his home. For several years past, he has been in the employ of W. U. T. Co. and of late has been stationed in Columbus, having in charge the city telegraph line which position he occupied at the time of his death. He was buried Tuesday afternoon with Masonic honors. Dr. G. W. and G. S. Storm and E. G. Clark held a post mortem examination. His death resulted from ossification of the valves of the heart.

Oct. 24, 1879  Friday
Wednesday night a cry of fire in Willoughby and the loud ringing of the college bell woke up the citizens. The fire was found to be raging in the large frame building known as the Willoughby House, a building that has sheltered guests for more than 60 years in the north part of the village. It is thought the fire to be a work of an incendiary and not of carelessness.
“Bill” Chapin first spotted the first spotted the fire about a quarter to twelve when he was returning from a trip to Mentor. The inmates of the hotel were immediately aroused and a general alarm spread. Through hard work, the fire was contained to the one building. The residences of R. C. Thomas, Jos. Chadderton, and the one occupied by us were saved. The paint on Mr. Thomas’ house was badly scorched. Mr. A. L. Brown’s house was somewhat injured by the intense heat. The building was owned by Mr. Geo. Hollister, of Collamer, and was occupied as a hotel by Mr. Henry Dowd.

We learn by the Ottawa Weekly Times of the sudden death of Mr. Thos. Roberts on Wed. of last week at the Clifton House in that city. Mr. Roberts is well known by many of our readers, having resided on Waite Hill a number of years, living on the farm now occupied by Mr. Jenks. He, afterwards, moved to Painesville and went into the commission business on State St. He purchased a small farm one mile east of Painesville on Jennings’s Ave., where he resided for some years; finally removing to the west on the marriage of his daughter, Blanche, now Mrs. Jeff. Carson. Mr. Roberts was 68 years old.

Body Snatching
A case of body snatching took place at Kingsville, Ashtabula Co., on Saturday night. An inmate of the County Infirmary, a woman named Goodrich, had been interred a day or two earlier at that place. Two men of the Cleveland Medical College, by the names of Milford White and F. W. Daykin, went down to Ashtabula Saturday afternoon hiring a horse and wagon for the purpose of going to Kingsville, saying they should return in time to take the early train back to Cleveland. The suspicions of the stable keeper, Fuller, being aroused by a large trunk they brought with them, two police officers were notified and met the men at the station and insisted on a search of the trunk. They were at once taken into custody. The accused were being held under bonds of $500. Dr. J. C. Hubbard and E. L. King acted as bondsmen.

The case of the terrible death of Mr. N. C. Meeker, at the White River Agency, by the Indians brings to my mind most vividly the memories of past years. Twenty-five years ago, when I was a small boy attending school at Hiram, in Portage Co., Mr. Meeker then lived there, and kept a small country store in that village. I remember his son, Ralph, a trifle younger than myself. I notice he is mentioned as one of the party who came to the aid of Mrs. Meeker and her daughter after they had been held prisoner for two — three days. In later years, Mr. Meeker was on the New York Tribune Staff and finally became agricultural editor of that paper. In 1866 he came to Northern Ohio to inspect the dairy and farming interests in behalf of the Tribune.

Little Ida Hardaker, one of the pupils in the Primary grade of our school, died of diphtheria last Friday morning. She was sick only a little more than two days. Prof. Gist delivered the funeral sermon. During the sermon large white feathery flakes of snow fell—fitting of the pure, young life that had so recently left the earth.

Mentor
Mr. Irwin, of our village, died tragically a few days ago. It seems eight men, Mr. Irwin being one of them, had started for Willoughby on a hand car. Near Carpenter's Crossing a train appeared in sight which they supposed to be a freight, but proved to be a late express. The men thinking the car would throw the train unless it was taken from the track, made almost super human efforts to lift it, and succeeded in getting it across the track when the locomotive struck it tossing it high in the air but doing no damage to the engine. When it was seen that the car could not be entirely removed, all the men wisely jumped for their lives except Mr. Irwin, who refused to leave his post without one more effort. The deceased leaves a wife and several little ones poorly provided for the winter; but the neighbors are stirring themselves to care for them at once.

The time draws near for Gen. Garfield and family to return to Washington for the winter. Mrs. Spencer Munson, from the south, has been spending a few weeks in our midst; a very charming, winning little lady.

At Sisson’s Corners in Hambden last Saturday, where a number of workmen were engaged in building a bridge, a heavy stone was being raised with a derrick when the derrick gave way and fell. Theodore Curtis and Harrison Wheelock were under the derrick when it started to fall, and Commissioner Barnes and two or three others were nearby. Mr. Wheelock, who ran for the team, which was standing about 30 feet distant, had a hair breadth escape. His hat was knocked and the back of his left hand bruised, and the heel of his left foot was struck as the derrick reached the ground.

Judd and wife, of San Bernardino, Calif., arrived here last week. We hear they had a touch of “home sickness.” Mr. B. S. Upham celebrated his 60th birthday last Saturday. The marriage of his half sister, also, took place on the same day. A pony ridden by a boy named Kelley ran against a horse ridden by Carlos Durban Monday evening of this week. The pony was thrown to the ground falling upon Kelley so as to injure him internally. Dr. Moore attended to the injuries which fortunately are not dangerous. Drs. G. C. and Geo. H. Wilson are dentists in Painesville.

The Avenue House in Mentor was totally destroyed by fire on Friday night. The fire originated in the barn lying to the east which soon spread to the hotel. In the barn, two horses, a cow, and wagon and buggy were lost. The houses of Mr. Frank Langdon and Mr. Erastus Larned were in immediate danger but were saved. The fire is thought to have been caused by careless smokers.

Mr. G. B. Durban returned from Zanesville Tuesday; sickness and death in the home of his sister having called him there some days ago. Four children have died within a few months. (Zanesville Correspondent of Sept.)

Little Katie Story, 6 years old, the last of a family of four sisters, died at the home of her parents Capt. James T. and Ada Story, in Wayne Township last evening. Mrs. Sarah T. Legg died at the residence of Mr. Alexander King. She was the mother of Mrs. King. Mr. King was traveling in Mass. and word was telegraphed to him in a number of places. Mrs. Legg was born in Providence, R. I., Sept. 15, 1793, and died Nov. 10, 1879. She was 85 years old. She was the eldest of six children, all but two of whom she outlived. She was, also, the mother of eight children, six of whom died before her. She leaves a brother and a sister, a son and a daughter to mourn her. The son is now living in Nebraska and the daughter is Mrs. H. King. She was married July 2, 1815 to Mr. Allen Legg and took up residence with him in Pawtucket, R. I., where she had lived all but the last four years. Her husband died June 3, 1850. She will be buried in Pawtucket, R. I., next to her husband and five children.

Mr. and Mrs. Dexter Damon arrived home Wednesday from a several months’ visit to Minnesota.

Madison
The principal topic amongst the gossips of our town for the last few days is the cutting affray that took place on South Street the latter part of last week. A man named Ritcher went to Mr. E. Rand’s well and got some water; after filling his jug he went to the orchard and began to fill his pockets with apples. Mr. Rand told him not to take the apples and words passed between them. Mr. Rand ordered the man off his property. Richter said Rand kicked him and followed him across the street and struck him. Ritcher had in his hand a pocket knife he was using to cut an apple and this he used in the struggle that followed. Rand is badly cut about the neck and face. It is thought the wounds are not dangerous, but Mr. Rand is still unable to leave his bed. Ritcher was arrested and had a preliminary trial and gave bail.
