

THE LATEST BOOK FROM HISTORY GALS!

No one knows Denison and Grayson County, Texas, better than Donna Hord Hunt—or tells what she knows with greater relish and wit.

In this book, Donna shares her own story, describing professional and personal joys, struggles, and achievements.

As the first female editor of the Denison Herald, manager of Eisenhower's Birthplace, long-time newspaper columnist, and author of books on local history, Hunt herself has become a cherished community resource.

To aid researchers, the volume (edited by Mavis Anne Bryant) closes with a full list of Hunt's many writings on the history of her region.
