

The following inscriptions were taken from the monuments standing in the cemetery in the early part of the year 1917.

A number of these monuments have since become undecipherable and still others have fallen into decay, the effect of the elements having in many instances caused the front of the markers to peel off to the depth of the inscription cut into them.

In this burial yard are to be found patriots of all the wars of the United States, - Indian and Colonial; Revolutionary, 1812; Civil; Spanish-American; and the late World War.

The burial places of over seventy warriors of the War of the American Revolution may be identified by monuments still standing, while many of the markers of other patriots who served in that war cannot be found having been destroyed or broken by the elements.

The cemetery is under the control of the first Presbyterian Church of Woodbridge, and while in the past this burial yard has been open to the public for burial, it has recently been restricted to the membership (families) of the above church.

The initials "b." and "g." placed in front of the numbers on the following pages, indicate 'brown stone', and 'granite', and where there is no initial before the number the stone monument is of marble.
